GoAir - India's first domestic low-cost airline launched flight from Delhi to Coimbatore in Tamil Nadu, GoAir's first ever destination in South India. Naming GoAir as India's first domestic low cost airline is a big challenge for GoAir. It is going through a tough phase. Its launch was delayed for a year and its fleet of 11 aircraft is the smallest in the Indian market. But the airline is optimistic about its future. Challenges The airline currently operates with single engine Cessna 152 aircraft. Its plan is to operate with two or three planes to increase its fleet. Despite being the smallest domestic airline in India, GoAir continues to be profitable. GoAir has expressed its willingness to expand, provided that the state government allows a bidding process to be held for airports. GoAir's target market is not just Delhi, but Chennai, Mumbai, Bengaluru, Kolkata, Hyderabad and Pune. GoAir has secured 4.88% stake in the bank loan by Air India Ltd. Under this deal, GoAir will have the option to buy up to 99% stake in the bank loan which will be used to acquire an additional 9 aircraft. GoAir will be able to pay only Rs. 2,940 per person which is less than half of the market rate. The airline now plans to raise about Rs. 40 crore from investors, by utilising the money from the
