I tried db2 "alter function $func_name is dbms_sql.functionname" and alter function $func_name dbms_sql.functionname And I also tried db2 "alter function $func_name is dbms_sql.functionname" with password, with user, with schema and without password and user. The script runs but it doesn't do anything (it just exits). Is there any way to make this script run as a user or to make a function to be run as a user? A: This is not how that works. You cannot run a function like that, not even if you specify the user.
