Let's Play Stardocks Sector One! This is a linear space-simulation adventure RPG game about hard-working scientist and the battles of the future. Developed by an indie team, Star Drop has been described as Stardock's homage to the games of the 80s and 90s, inspired by titles such as Dynastar, Wing Commander and Wing & a Prayer. "Wait a minute...this looks a bit like another game you created..." That is correct. Star Drop is the result of two six year olds trying to make a game back in 2009. "I know, that sounds so dumb, don't you think?" Oh, no. That's when we all started to build the world of Star Drop. The team behind Star Drop is extremely small, all of us come from a variety of different backgrounds and bring different skills. We are a team of multitalented gamers who are active in the gaming and tech community. We believe that in order to make the best games possible, we need to be active in the community. We hope you enjoy playing Star Drop as much as we enjoyed making it. 1 player . Play single player or join forces with friends for up to 4 players using Local Co-Op, Player Matching and Player Matching. Key Game Features Play Star Drop using Star Drops unique touch screen controls for immediate action. Stealth: Play stealthily, explore wide open spaces, and infiltrate populated areas. Procedural Worlds: Explore a procedurally generated universe, exploring unexplored areas, discovering relics and upgrades, and experiencing story-driven events through a wide variety of content types. Player Choice: Interact with the many citizens of Stardocks, play in a variety of ways: through Stealth, Gunplay, or explore the story through the immersive, episodic dialogue system. Decentralised Multiplayer: Play together with or against other players in dedicated rooms or the full game seamlessly. Vast Open Worlds: The size of the single player game combined with new features such as decently sized endgame and procedural world generation means you won't need to pay that long-term game-hopping itch. Expanded Multiplayer: Play multiplayer with up to 4 players using Local Co-Op, Player Matching and Player Matching. Saber: Customise your base and expand your arsenal with numerous weapons and gadgets. Dude Perfect: All the bells and whistles you'd expect of c9d1549cdd

AA MLI Formal name Light Machine Gun (LMG) Caliber 5.56×45mm NATO /.223 Rem Magazine 40-round detachable one Type Continuous feed Muzzle velocity 2200 m/s Rate of fire 12,800 rpm Barrel length 545mm Weight 20 kg Length 1022mm

The Tiger Tank 59 was a quick-firing LMG, based on the Tiger Tank 48. The Gun with a rotation axis of 90 degrees had a total weight of 20 kg with a magazine capacity of 40 rounds. The new Tiger Tank 59 was introduced in Germany in the spring of 1942. The factory was called "Monschau" which drew much attention. This Panther tank was equipped with the armored plate was made in the USA by Reynolds. The gun on the Tiger Tank 59 was no longer a Pzgr 39 / MG 42 - however, the number of submachine guns was also increased compared to the older Tiger Tank. The Tiger Tank 59 had a main gun of 5.56 cm, but also a rear installation could be added. It was a tripod mounted machine gun, which could be attached via an electric mechanism or manually. Diversion systems for weapons could be added in the tanks. A major improvement was in effect, the tank could be loaded in a relatively short time. A walking speed of 1.6 km / h and sidecar locomotion made this new Tiger 54 a more flexible weapon. It had three options and mobility: Horse, engine or winch. The Tiger Tank 59 entered service at the beginning of the war with the Afrika Corps in North Africa, in the battle for Tunisia. In addition to Vollrad, the magazine box has an external storage, the magazine lid is located at the front. The magazine conversion is painted in the green camouflage scheme in accordance with the April 1942 specifications. The following disadvantages of the Tiger Tank 59 were solved: As the 11th Tiger Tank, the big gun Tiger Tank 59 was tested with charge water-filled containers. The G 54 H, / G54H was equipped with a fanatical crew of 31 people. The bomb compartment on the bottom of the vehicle was made from wood. It was replaced with wood and concrete in September 1942. This Tiger Tank had an armored body
