I don't want the user to be "swallowed" in the screen when pressing the back button and instead I need an alert to be shown so the user can finish setting things up. I need to check this since the configuration screen is long, is it a good solution to put an alert if they pressed the back button? A: On your activity that contains the configuration screen, you can handle the back key event: @Override public void onBackPressed() { // your alert when back pressed } Image copyright AFP Image caption Alexei Navalny has long promised to unveil a criminal record connected to a large property deal during the campaign. e79caf774b

Parameters source The node to start enumerating from. stop Boolean value indicating whether the enumeration should stop. NodeSort Sorts the nodes in this collection. The nodes are sorted in a natural order. Parameters order Determines the ordering used to sort the nodes in this collection. The default behavior of Collections.sort() is used. Throws UnsupportedOperationException - if the specified implementation is not supported. Collections Use the variant of the equals() method in this class to compare the value of two collections for equality. The implementation of this method should delegate to the underlying collection's equals() method.The present invention relates to a new and distinctive soybean variety designated XB32D14, which has been the result of years of careful breeding and selection in a comprehensive soybean breeding program. There are numerous steps in the development of any novel, desirable soybean variety. Plant breeding begins with the analysis and definition of problems and weaknesses of the current germplasm, the establishment of program goals, and the definition of specific breeding objectives. The next step is selection of germplasm that possess the traits to meet the program goals. The breeder's goal is to combine in a single variety an improved combination of desirable traits from the parental germplasm. These important traits may include, but are not limited to: higher seed yield, resistance to diseases and/or insects, tolerance to drought and/or heat, altered fatty acid profile(s), abiotic stress tolerance, improvements in compositional traits, and better agronomic characteristics. These product development processes, which lead to the final step of marketing and distribution, can take from six to twelve years from the time the first cross is made until the finished seed is delivered to the farmer for planting. Therefore, development of new varieties is a time-consuming process that requires precise planning, efficient use of resources, and a
