Q: how to hide and show uicollectionview cell after pressing like button I am having a collectionview. In each cell there is a like button. If the user will click the like button the the like button will be changed to dislike button and if the user presses the dislike button it will be changed to like button again. My problem is that how can i implement this functionality. A: You can save a boolean "state" property in your controller or elsewhere in the app that indicates what the state of the button is when the view loads. Then when you press the button set the state to the opposite of what it was previously. Q: Internet Connection Sharing with Ubuntu Hardy Heron I have Ubuntu 8.04 Hardy. I have netgear adapter on my USB port. I want to share my internet connection with Windows XP connected to my PC. when i type "sudo ethtool -t eth1" it shows me that I have link up and 100mbit/s speed. PS I have netgear wg111t ver.4. How can i share my internet connection? A: Create a crt file via command line: crontab -e Then add # +-----+ # | internet sharing | share the internet | # +-----+ # * * * * * 7 15? * /bin/sh -c "echo 'auto wlan0' >/etc/network/interfaces && sudo ifconfig wlan0 down && sudo /etc/init.d/networking restart" # +-----+ The first line is optional, if no crt file is created it will use the default crt. The content of the crt file is from this site (modified slightly). This will set your netgear adapter to be auto loaded with dhcp and share your internet connection (wlan0) with windows.
