==== s_baby Can someone explain to me the "comparison" they are making? Isn't this a summer camp game? ~~~ gioteck You're right. It is a camp game. We weren't sure how people would feel about a gamification of a summer camp game, but it seems a lot of people don't mind all that much. ----- teyes Text/emoji are all ugly ~~~ gioteck Thank you for the feedback!

Fluorescence in situ hybridization (FISH) analysis of the growth fraction of various types of carcinomas by a cytokeratin-specific DNA probe. The authors performed fluorescence in situ hybridization (FISH) analysis of various types of carcinomas using a cytokeratin-specific DNA probe to determine whether this technique could be useful in the cytologic diagnosis of carcinomas. The FISH analysis was performed on a case-by-case basis by using cytologically prepared smears. All types of carcinomas tested in the present study exhibited an increased signal ratio by FISH analysis. This indicated that the signal ratio is a cytologic indicator for distinguishing carcinomas from normal cells. The FISH analysis demonstrated the usefulness of this simple but useful diagnostic technique. However, the results of the FISH analysis should be confirmed by a stepwise study design in the future.

Recently, a tractor-trailer has become the prototypical vehicle of crime. A tractor-trailer is a combination of a tractor and a trailer. Typically, tractor-trailers are the size of a tractor with a trailer towed by the tractor. The tractor-trailers have been designed so as to provide appropriate size and cost of equipment for hauling a trailer of a given length. Most state and federal laws require that a tractor-trailer have a brake system sufficient to bring a tractor and the trailer to a stop in an emergency.

The laws also require that the brakes be operable and certified so that they can adequately slow or stop a tractor-trailer when in use. A tractor-trailer's braking system typically consists of two basic elements: 1) a tractor-brake assembly which is capable of slowing or stopping the tractor, and 2) a trailer brake system that is capable of slowing or stopping the trailer. The tractor-brake assembly comprises a tractor brake pedal

What's new in Sector Six OST:

Saturday, June 20, 2012 We are not going to talk about the case of Frank Sinatra, Baby this time. The singer is 90 and he won't go anywhere. People will continue to talk about him and his music for the rest of his life. Let us remember the less talked about but also very important singer. The People's Singer. The Champs Élysées winner. The man who sang to the children of Germany. Gaby Deslys was a French singer in the early 1900's best known for her work at Deuticke, the German music publisher that started building a huge talent pool after World War II. Gaby Deslys was born Charlotte-Adelaide Gill. Her mother was a very famous French singer who had been trained in the Paris Opera. Her father was a former royal aide. His name was Gill. She was the best known in her family. Her father was supposed to give up the popular role of comforter in the family but he kept going around while her mother got married again and thus began the "Bonne Nuit" family. She comes from a very musical family which consists of a sister, cousin and the first woman to sing in the French Royal ballet. Oh and her mom. She was three when she made her role debut in "Les belles dames de la Halle" which in English would translate into "The Women of The Bourse". She was four when she made her first recording. From there she raised her voice to sing as the wife of the conductor of the music hall school that she became part of. She became the singing voice of all the kids. Singer, actress, musicologist, musical director for the theater - all of it. Her voracious appetite for life, her alternance of homes in Paris and the Middle east but mostly in her songs, allowed her to become an inimitable Parisian in the style of Gaby Deslys through the 60's and 70's. She was the best known person to wear the Pierre Balmain "Cabas" like the one shown here in a 1965 fashion show in Paris. She even opened a restaurant that was equipped for the singer's entertainments. She was once Catherine Deneuve's maid. Gaby Deslys died of leuka
